

Call for Papers

Inter Gentes: the McGill Journal of International Law & Legal Pluralism provides a web-based forum for international legal scholars and practitioners to exchange on the evolving, increasingly complex nature of their discipline.

The Journal is currently welcoming thoughtful, argument-driven full length pieces from scholars, jurists, judges, professionals, and students. Articles should offer original, innovative, and critical outlooks on international law and legal pluralism. Inter Gentes is an open-access, peer-reviewed journal and accepts submissions in English, French and Spanish.

For more information about the submission guidelines, please visit: www.intergentes.com/submissions.

Please refer any questions to our editorial board at intergentes@mcgill.ca.